Is pleased to present:

The 2010 California Roundtable on the Future of Mobility

April 27-29, 2010 • Palo Alto, California

“Facing Resource and Climate Realities in Transportation: Designing Technology and Behavioral Change Solutions”

An Interactive Stakeholder Workshop

In a world of growing demand, constrained resources, and seemingly unattainable carbon goals, transportation fuel and technology solutions must be found and adopted, along with broad consumer behavioral changes. The next two decades will be markedly different than the world we know today. Our sixth annual California Roundtable continues as an invitation-only, interactive stakeholder workshop, led by Shell and featuring many recognized experts and global thought leaders.
